WORKING GROUP FOR ACUTE CORONARY SYNDROME

Zagreb, October 7th 2024.

FIRST NOTICE

Dear all,

It is our pleasure and honour to invite you to a Symposium entitled Acute and Intensive Cardiovascular Care Croatia (AICC Croatia) which will be held in Poreč, Croatia from 16th to 18th of May 2025. The Symposium will be organised by Working Group for Acute Coronary Syndrome of Croatian Cardiac Society and will host several renowned speakers involved in Association for Acute Cardiovascular Care (ACVC) of European Society of Cardiology (ESC) as its joint meeting. The Symposium will be the major regional event in the field of acute cardiovascular care. In addition to standard lectures, the Symposium will include expert interviews, debates, and workshops. Symposium is best suited for physicians involved in the treatment of acute cardiovascular patients, particularly the ones working in an intensive care environment.

The topics will include:

- acute coronary syndrome
- acute heart failure
- cardiogenic shock
- cardiac arrest
- acute valvular dysfunction
- other hemodynamic compromises
- acute aortal syndromes
- acute pulmonary embolism
- organisation of acute and intensive cardiac care

Technical coordinator is Novacon (email: javor.vucic@novacon.hr). Further information to follow. We are looking forward to broadening our collaboration.

Sincerely,

Member of the nucleus of the Working Group for Acute Coronary Syndrome
dr. Daniel Lovrić, MD, PhD

Secretary of the Working Group for Acute Coronary Syndrome assist. prof. Marin Pavlov, MD, PhD

Head of the Working Group for Acute Coronary Syndrome
prof.dr.sc. Zdravko Babić, MD, PhD
